Crown Land Water Frontage – Riparian Management Licenses

During the project proposal stage, the associated Corangamite CMA officer will identify whether Crown frontage parcels exist and determine the associated license information. This will be discussed with DELWP to clarify any issues that may arise.

Where a grazing license exists on an area of Crown frontage, the licensed area for a project will be amended to a riparian management license to reflect the changes to management. Note: there is no cost associated with a riparian management license.

For more information on Crown land water frontage, fact sheets regarding licenses and specifically riparian management licenses can be found at the following link:
